1953 WHO'S WHO Includes Eighteen MWC Seniors

Outstanding Mary Washington College girls have been selected for inclusion in the 1953 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Who's Who . . . gives recognition to seniors, who are selected upon the following qualifications: the student's excellence and sincerity in scholarship; his leadership and participation in extracurricular and academic activities; his citizenship and service to the school and his promise of future usefulness to business and society.

The following girls were selected from Mary Washington: Bur Anderson, of Miami, Florida, who was vice-president of the sophomore class, is now vice-president of Student Government, a member of Cap and Gown, Alpha Phi Sigma, and other honoraries.

Connie Bennett, of Washington, D. C., who has been president of her sophomore, junior and senior class, a member of Cap and Gown, a member of Glee Club and MWC Band, former Warden, now Captain of Mu Phi Epsilon and song leader for the song contest.

June Christian, of Richmond, who was house president of Virginia, president of Alpha Phi Omega, vice-president of Mu Phi Epsilon and a member of Y Cabin.

Helen Coddington of Martinsville, who is Editor of the Epaulet, a member of Sigma Tau Delta, a member of Alpha Phi Sigma.

Jackie Colbert, of Arlington, president of YWCA, an executive officer of RA, formerly a member of the Battlefield staff.

Betty Wise East of Norfolk, Editor of the Battlefield, a member of MWC Players, secretary of her sophomore class and a member of Y Cabinet in her junior year, also a member of the Sociology Club.

Mary Ann Fox of Sutton, West Virginia, president of Sigma Tau Delta, a member of Cap and Gown, a member of Student Government, an executive on YWCA, a member of the Red Cross Board and one of the Formal Dance Committee.

Kitty Garland of Bluefield, West Virginia, a member of orchestra, Madrigal Singers, Mu Phi Epsilon, Alpha Phi Sigma, and the Bullet, a music composition major, noted for her opera "Ruth," performed here last season.

Peggy Hopkins of Lynchburg, president of RA, a member of YWCA, Terrapin and the physical education majors club.

Nell McCoy of Roanoke, president of Student Government, member of Cap and Gown, Alpha Phi Sigma, Chi Beta Phi; president of her freshman class and house president of Westmoreland.

Irene Mallaro of Norfolk, one of two students doing honors work in mathematics this year, president of Alpha Phi Sigma, vice-president of Chi Beta Phi, member of Phi Sigma Iota and Cap and Gown.

Betty Mason of Roanoke, a member of MWC Band, orchestra and Madrigal Singers, also of Mu Phi Epsilon; Betty was awarded a scholarship to study music at the Summer School of Music here.

Mary Moskos of Norfolk, president of Eta Sigma Phi, member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Phi Sigma Iota and Cap and Gown.

Ginny Poole of Providence, Rhode Island, president of Mu Phi Epsilon, treasurer of Cap and Gown, a member of Concert Dance and Alpha Phi Sigma.

Pam Powell of Westport, Connecticut, president of Cap and Gown, senior and junior representative to Student Government, member of Terrapin Club and RA representative.

Paty Saunders, of Roanoke, Editor of the Bullet, Secretary of Honor Council, house president of Willard, member of Student Government, MWC Players, and YWCA.

F. R. Shea Gives Warning Against Neo-Fascism

"We're losing our South American neighbors," stated Frank R. Shea, bureau chief for Time and Life, in a speech presented to the student body at formal convocation Wednesday, October 22.

In his speech, which was entitled "Peron: The Thorn in Our Southern Exposure," Mr. Shea told of his experiences in Buenos Aires at the time "La Prensa" was seized. "La Prensa" was the sole Peron-surviving independent newspaper and in January 1951, it was closed by Peron.

In order to shift guilt from himself for closing the plant of this "excellent newspaper," Peron told the newspaper workers that this was not an argument between the government and "La Prensa." He maintained that the shut-down was a strike, organized by the "La Prensa" staff. What Peron said was obviously untrue, since almost all of the 1,700 "La Prensa" workers signed a petition to return to the plant, if police protection was guaranteed. Peron agreed and the workers assembled to walk to the plant. Shea accompanied the group, but sensed that something was wrong—"not a policeman in sight," said Mr. Shea. When they reached the plant, a squad of "goons" appeared and opened fire. This final treachery destroyed the group morale and ended the back-to-work move.

Police came to Shea's home the next morning and took him to one of Peron's "highly efficient jails." The same thing happened to Shea's (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2.)

well, president of Chi Beta Phi, member of Cap and Gown, Alpha Phi Sigma, Alpha Psi Omega and Band.

Anne Smith, Norfolk, president of Honor Council, house president of Willard, member of Student Government, MWC Players, and YWCA.

MW Femmes Compete For Queen's Crown

On Thursday night, October 30, contestants for May Queen will promenade in white evening dresses before the student body in George Washington auditorium. Sixteen girls will march down one aisle, across the stage, and back up the other aisle. The following girls will participate in the promenade: Helen Coddington, Mary Ann Fox, Peggy Jane Harrison, Sissie Irvin, Vivian James, Kitty Johnson, Kate King, Marge Kodet, Doris Lindsay, Mary Moskos, Pat Oberholzer, Ginny Poole, Dottie Reisig, Carol Smith, Polly Watson, and Gayle Winston.

The student body will elect one from this number to reign over the May Day festivities on May 2, 1953.

After the Queen's election, the remaining 15 contestants will automatically be nominees for the Maid of Honor. Each class will have four representatives to the Queen's court. The Modern Dance Clubs will present a program for the May Queen and her court. The weather permitting, the May Day festivities will be held in the Amphitheatre; otherwise the crowning of the Queen will be held in George Washington Auditorium.

RA To Sponsor Karnival on Monroe Midway

By KRISTINA MASSIE

Korny Karnival, RA's annual production, will set up for business in Monroe Gym on November 1. This event, planned as nearly as possible like an actual carnival, has booths, concessions, side shows and other attractions, each of which is sponsored by an RA committee.

This year, one of the main attractions will be a night club for students and their dates. Dim lights, a dance floor and appropriate music, will be provided. Kitty Wright and Janet Campbell are in charge of the night club.

Every carnival has its side show and this one is no exception. Dancers, snake charmers and other artists will be provided by Kate King and the Concert Dance Club.

Terrapin Club is running a spook house, which guarantees "chills and thrills" for all who enter its portals, with Sally Shipman and Jane Lloyd in charge.

Comic pictures, complete with props, are to be offered at the Battlefield's comic photography booth. Anyone not satisfied with her Battlefield portrait is urged to find this booth and try again.

Legalized gambling has at last hit the campus in the form of a penny pitching booth, set up by Lucy Abbot's publicity committee; a ball throw joint, run by Ozzie Chaffee's soft ball committee, oddly enough; and of course the dart throw game is sponsored by Sarah Martin and the archery committee.

Other games of chance are bowling and dice, offered by Lois Harder and Dottie Reisig for Cavalry and Hoofprints, plus a rings-over-bottle game, of which Jean Rowell will be in charge.

There will be an opportunity for students to have their portraits drawn by student artists at a booth sponsored by the volley ball committee, Mary Churchill in charge.

Dr. Mary Ellen Stephenson will be on hand to predict the future and reveal the past (think carefully before you give her a chance at your past), at the fortune telling booth, sponsored by Joyce Arkook's basketball committee.

More of the faculty are participating in the floor show to be presented at 10:00 which will include a chorus line of professors.

A new event this year will be rides, sponsored by Joan Darden and the general sports committee. The exact nature of these rides has not been disclosed as yet.

There will be a break show, arranged by Bootsy Simpson and the fencing committee; a concession for refreshments, run by Honey Kerrins, and a telegraph service, operated by Peggy Fletcher, who is in charge of the cabin.

Entertainment, in the form of miniature golf, will be offered by Eileen Cella and the golf committee.

A cake walk, with home-made cakes to be given to the lucky winners, will be sponsored by Maggie McManus; Meechi Yokagawa and the tennis committee will have facilities for apple bobbing.

Mr. W. R. Walther will be barker for the entire affair, with Becky Spitzer Harvill as ringmaster for the floor show.

Sally Hammert is in charge of tickets; Pat Bainbridge, music; Betty Bartz, announcements; and Lucy Abbott, Ann Reddall and Ellen Richter, publicity.

Admission will be 20 cents and the door prizes will be awarded; the Karnival lasts from 8 till 11.

Orchids to Mr. Shea!

We appreciated having Frank R. Shea speak to us at our first formal convocation; Mr. Shea gave the type of convocation program rarely equaled—very much in keeping with the solemnity of the occasion. His approach to the topic of Peron was original, since he made his speech mainly from his own experiences in Buenos Aires. News from an eye-witness is always a welcome change from the re-hashed stuff we often have to take. We cheered, silently, when Mr. Shea showed no reluctance to state his own opinions on matters such as our foreign policy in Argentina. He was informal and sincere; we were pleased by the fact that he stayed after convocation to conduct a question and answer session that was as interesting as his speech had been. We were flattered by the effort he made to please the audience, both during and after his speech. The convocation program chairman, Dean Edward Alvey, Jr., was responsible for bringing Mr. Shea to us. Just a request: if there are any more resembling Mr. Shea to be had, let's have them.

G. B.

They're For You...

Last year, six lyceum programs, available to all students without extra cost, were given in G. W. Auditorium. Of the six programs, one or two were of excellent quality, two or three were fair to mediocre entertainment, and at least one was really poor. It so happened that the largest audience for any of the programs was found at one of the mediocre performances and that one of the smallest audiences was present for the program which turned out to be far superior to any of the others. Both the mediocre and the poor performances were highly anticipated before hand and left many people disillusioned, to say the least; conversely, the excellent program was heralded by expressions of doubt of its quality even by the most music-minded students on campus and to say that these students and the rest of that pitifully small audience were pleasantly surprised is a great understatement. "It just goes to show, you won't know 'till you go . . ." And I'm not going to miss one of this year's series!

K. G.

This short, potent editorial-poem appeared recently in The Reporter:

NIX, SON

Oh, down with the welfare state, boys,
And up with the private kitty!
A young, poor
Senator
Deserves to be sitting pretty!

Oh, up with the private interests,
And down with Dick's expenses—
Let business pay
Poor Richard's way
And Ike the consequences.

Defense: More or Less?

Everybody today is concerned with the problem of national defense. The two leading figures in our national news today, Adlai Stevenson and Dwight Eisenhower, have taken definite views on this subject.

Eisenhower believes that our defense program has suffered from lack of farsighted direction; real unification of our armed forces is yet to be achieved; our defense program need not and must not push us steadily toward economic collapse. Eisenhower says that we must press for a weapons program that is realistic; we must emphasize simplicity in design of weapons; more civilian counsel must be called into the weapons production program. The Republican candidate for the presidency of the United States also believes that at the earliest possible date next year, the Administration should create a commission of the most capable civilians to re-study the operations, and acts of the Department of Defense.

Adlai Stevenson believes in a strong national defense. He proclaims that we must press forward to improve our position and not waver or hesitate in this interval when the scales are so precariously balanced. Stevenson emphatically rejects the idea that national security must be adjusted to a tax ceiling rather than taxes to national security. He does not believe in the theory that military budgets are sacred and untouchable. The Democratic nominee of presidency believes that there is only one way to work for peace. He says there is no substitute for the long, complex, patient processes of building strength and unity in the free world—political strength, military strength and, perhaps most of all, moral strength. He explains moral strength as the strength of a common faith that nations can be free and people can stand erect and unafraid.

These are the two leading views of the nation today. It is a problem of everyone's concern; therefore, weigh the views and beliefs carefully before you make up your mind. When your mind is made up, stick to your convictions for you are the nation builders of tomorrow.

KOLLUM

How do you like living on the third floor of your dorm? It's exciting, fast moving, and high living. Have you ever stopped to think how many times a day you climb three flights of steps? Well, if you merely participate in eating habits and attending classes, you couldn't let a day go by without at least a dozen attempts. Here we excluded the fact that your classes may be located on the third floor of another building.

Walking up and down steps is the most vigorous exercise offered at M. W. C., since we don't have a track outfit. If you are overweight it's greatly to your advantage, if you are exceedingly healthy, quite stimulating, if you are a person of average energy then get out your vitamin pills or it will be rough going. Indeed it is a test of the survival of the fittest.

Here are a few hints of how to overcome these trials of step climbing:

1. If you have a husky roommate get a long rope and hang it from your window and let her try pulling you up.
2. If you are adventurous take a deep breath and run all the way so that you can go to bed for some time before you have to descend again.
3. If you have plenty of time, pick out close friends on the second floor to visit and bum off of while you rest.
4. Have a fireman's pole installed for rapid descents.
5. Have chairs for the purpose of resting on landings.
6. Start a petition for elevators (and just see how far you will get!)

Of one thing you can be sure. When the marathon for the stairway to paradise begins, third floor occupants are sure to win, for practice makes perfect.

Fads 'N Fashions

By ANN CAMPBELL

Now that male call is bringing more and more bids for gay college week-ends, Ulman's is putting in its bid to outfit you from head to toe with name-brand fashions.

For the afternoon football game and campus carousing, there's the nationally known Serbin wool dress, tailored and especially stunning for sporty affairs. Do you need a jersey blouse to match your latest smart skirt? If so—see a Serbin.

To avoid the cold and yet retain an air of quiet elegance, you'll certainly need a Youth Craft or Pres-knit coat. There's one in particular that can be adapted to any occasion. One minute it's a jaunty box-type, the next it can be converted into a well-fitted belted style—price $65.

Chic hats to turn your head, stylish Virginia Art handbags, Max Mayer gloves, and just the right touch of costume jewelry complete the ensemble.

You'll be sure to enhance any party or dance scheduled for the evening when you appear in one of Shirley Lee's or Hanna Rosfelt's fashionable suits or dresses.

By the way, as an undercover act, be sure to include your Faerie Longerie; and remember—never go dancing without your Maidenform Bra. Keep handy, too, a few pairs of sheer, shapely Mary Grey hose.

After the ball is over, it's time to retire in Shrank's man-tailored pajamas.

All in all, with a wardrobe from Ulman's you'll make a picture of pulchritude that any boy will be proud to know.

Some of us have very thrifty habits. We save everything but time and money.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

On October 18th, Random House will publish a book that will be of interest to many of your readers. It is Speeches of Adlai Stevenson, beginning with Stevenson's famous welcoming address to the Chicago Democratic Convention and continuing through his notable Louisville speech on Korea.

The eminent author, John Steinbeck, has written a foreword for the book, and Debs Myers (a former editor of "Yank" the army weekly) and Ralph Martin (a former editor of "Stars and Stripes") have added a 2500-word biography of the Governor.

Speeches of Adlai Stevenson is a large-size, 128-page paper-bound volume that will retail for one dollar a copy.

Bennett Cerf, President of Random House, said at a recent press conference: "Win or lose, Adlai Stevenson has contributed to the 1952 presidential campaign a series of speeches that for eloquence, humor and literary style has been rarely equaled in American politics. Indeed, no statesman of recent times, with the exception of Winston Churchill, has so electrified a country by his spoken words. His speeches will be studied by orators and language students for many years to come."

Advanced newspaper notice about Speeches of Adlai Stevenson has already aroused the interest of the faculties and students of a number of colleges throughout the country. We believe you will want to bring it to the attention of your readers.

Cordially,
Jean Ennis

Career In Foreign Affairs Offered For State Department Trainees

The Department of State has recently announced its 1953 trainee program to colleges and universities throughout the country. Seniors and graduate students with good backgrounds in political science, economics, public administration, international relations or related fields and who are interested in a career in foreign affairs management may be considered for the program. The foreign affairs management trainee program is designed to secure a limited number of carefully selected trainees who possess outstanding potentiality for eventual promotion to top level executive and managerial positions.

Beginning salaries for the program, which starts in the summer of 1953, are $3,410 and $4,205 per year, depending on individual qualifications and requirements of the department.

The department is again planning to use the civil service Commission's Junior Management Assistance Examination as part of the selection process for its 1953 program. This examination opened October 14, and will close November 11, 1952. It is important that students who wish to be appointed in the department compete successfully in this examination.

Nominating boards, composed of faculty members, will assist the department of each campus by screening qualified students from among JMA competitors and nominating the most outstanding candidates for consideration by the Department of State. Nominating board selections must be received in the Department not later than February 16, 1953.

Trainees will generally be assigned to administrative and managerial activities in Washington, keeping, where practical, with the interest and background of the individual trainee. About 90% of the trainee's time is spent in regular work assignments under the guidance of a training counselor; the remaining time being allotted to orientation, counseling and seminars. After successful completion of the program, a trainee progresses to positions of greater responsibility as he demonstrates capacity for advancement.

These assignments which are in Washington, should not be confused with positions in the Foreign Service.

Examinations will be given for Mary Washington students in either Charlottesville, Richmond, or Washington on December 6. Students interested should contact Dr. R. L. Hilldrup and have applications in before November, 1952.

CAMPUS CLIPPINGS

Spoil System . . .

Richard Nixon was last week elected treasurer of the Young Democratic club at the University of North Carolina. He is a distant cousin of the Republican vice-presidential nominee.

A Slap at Prexy Ike . . .

The Columbia Daily Spectator last week endorsed Governor Stevenson for the presidency and declared its opposition to General Eisenhower, the university's own president on leave.

Eisenhower's "great crusade" has now become "a great enchantment," the newspaper said in a front page editorial signed by eight members of the editorial board.

Referring to Ike's running mate Nixon, The Spectator declared . . . General Eisenhower allowed a television soap opera rather than a careful exploration of the facts to be submitted to the American people as evidence."

The Spectator is published by undergraduate journalism students, without faculty supervision or control.

Big Hurry . . .

A South Dakota State college coed tells of her experience during registration. It seems things were going smoothly until she stepped into an especially long line. After a two-hour wait, she reached . . . the men's washroom.

I Can Hear It Now . . .

Ohio State's 1953 yearbook, The Makio, will be heard as well as seen.

In each yearbook there will be a 15-minute phonograph record of some of the sounds most familiar to Ohio State students—the chimes, the marching band, school songs and excerpts from speeches by campus leaders.

Irrational Ratio . . .

If you think the ratio of males to females on your campus is too steep, try attending Davidson College. Its enrollment: 825 men, one woman.

Irate KAT: "Say, what's the big idea following me, anyway? Haven't you ever seen anyone like me before?"

Frosh: "Yeah, but I had to pay four bits."

A sorority is a group of girls, living in one house, with a single purpose . . . to get more girls, to live in one house, with a single purpose.

PROXY NEEDLE . . .

Registration usually causes a lot of confusion, and a coed at North Texas State college almost got the worst of it.

She was going through registration lines when she was ushered into a separate room. There a nurse told her that since she had no record of a previous vaccination, she would have to take one now. "But," stammered the young lady, "Will that work? I'm Registering for my husband."

Wet Tradition . . .

A fellow named Joe Raff, who writes a column for the North Carolina Daily Tar Heel, is intrigued with a Wellesley College tradition.

"There is a beautiful symmetrical garden," writes Raff, "designed by a math professor whose love was thwarted for a president of Wellesley (the presidents there are always women.)

"It is said that if a Wellesley girl walks her bear around the lake and this garden three times without proposal, she has a perfect right to push him in the drink."

"The flaw in this custom is that not enough young men know the story and often have their spirits dampened. When going with a Wellesley gal, remember men, that third trip around the lake may be your first up the river."

And The Brooklyn Bridge? . . .

The girls at Texas State College for Women are still pulling variations on the old gag of selling the Brooklyn bridge to the uninitiated.

A freshman there proudly told a friend that she had bought a ticket from a senior guaranteeing her a free ride in the administration elevator.

It's An Ill Wind . . .

The housing shortage at Michigan State college has its compensations. One of the dormitories there is now housing students of both sexes. Oldtime students are saying they "never had it so good."

"The laundry made a mistake and sent me the wrong shirt. The collar is so tight I can hardly breathe."

"No, that's your shirt all right, but you've got your head through a button hole."

"What sort of part does Bill have in the play?"

"A very emotional part. In the last act he has to refuse a drink."

Students Vote Following Rally

On Tuesday, October 28, the 21 Club, the History Club, the International Relations Club, the Steering Committee of the Forum and Pi Gamma Mu will hold a mock political rally during chapel, followed by a mock presidential election. The chapel program will consist of two speakers, Doris Ann Lindsay for Stevenson and Ann Evans for Eisenhower. Demonstrations including band selections will be staged after each speech. The election will be carried on in Chandler 1, from 1:30 to 10:30 P. M. All students will be eligible to vote.

Girls Bring Dates To Tap Room Party

A housewarming party, sponsored by Student Government Saturday night from 7:30 to 10:45, marked this year's official opening of the Tapestry Room in Seacockebeck for Mary Washington students.

Refreshments were served in the room decorated with an Autumn theme of leaves and caravans done by students in the college art department. Recorded music and various table games were provided for entertainment.

The Tapestry Room will be opened throughout the remainder of the year at the following times: Friday night from 7:15 to 10:15, Saturday afternoon from 2:00 to 5:00 and in the evening from 7:15 to 10:45, Sunday afternoon, from 2:00 to 5:00 and again at 7:15 to 10:15.

Student Increase Noted In Smaller Institutions

Early reports of fall enrollments received by the U. S. Office of Education indicate that pessimistic predictions made last spring of further decreases in college enrollments this year were not justified. It now appears that enrollment will be about the same as it was a year ago, although later reports of the office may change the picture slightly. The most encouraging aspect of the situation is the increase of over-all freshman enrollment by 15 percent. This increase has been reflected in the first-time enrollment of both men and women students. The increase is particularly notable in the smaller institutions. In some of the larger institutions the overall enrollment is not equally favorable.

Robert Story of the Office of Education, who is gathering and analyzing the enrollment data, suggests that this is partly due to a falling off of graduate enrollments, particularly of veterans students. The smaller colleges without post baccalaureate programs were the first to feel the decline of the veteran enrollment, which has now reached the upper levels of the educational program.—College and University Bulletin

More Money Released For College Building

The Bureau of the Budget has released an additional $40 million for the College Housing Program for the current fiscal year. This brings to $60 million the funds available this year and makes a total of $100 million release to date of the $300 million appropriated by Congress for this purpose under Title IV of the Housing Act of 1950. Loans totaling nearly $28 million have already been approved, with reservations of funds on preliminary applications of another $41 million. It is apparent that colleges and universities are increasingly alert to the opportunities under this program for low-cost housing. This is especially important if higher institutions are to be prepared to house large increases in students expected toward the end of the 1950's.

LIFE FACES PORTIA

By PRUNELLA CARSONS

For the benefit of all you (Ed. note—you all: Yankee version) 800 men on campus and any who may have strayed to Charlottesville out of ignorance or malice aforethought, the typical "sugar-and-spice-and-everything-nice" cornfed sweetheart is no more. No, boys, she has gone down in history, along with Cleopatra, Lucretia Borgia, and the Model T Ford. The 1952 All-American Heartbreaker is the "Fire and Ice" girl, about whom we gave some advance information last week. (You see what happens when you read your psychology instead of the Bullet!)

This week we are in dead earnest, or maybe just dead, but the "Fire and Ice" girl is the best little pickup you ever saw—more exciting than an "A" in chemistry, more maddening than a two o'clock fire drill, more intoxicating than a double Zombie, flightier than a DC-6, and more baffling than a simplified French grammar. Teasing, tempting, enticing, she's the girl perfume was made for. Dior was created for, and the other poor unsuspecting American male lives for—and wake up, men, over your Wheatus, SHE may be YOURS! Just show the following questionnaire to your sweetheart or what passes for same. If she answers "yes" to at least 10 of the questions she is your "Fire and Ice" girl, and you had better leave the country. Even Mexico will be too close to the flames!

Royal Doulton Shown To Girls In Survey

Mary Washington College acted as hostess to the Royal Doulton china display October 23 and 24. The display, which was set up in the Tapestry Room, was arranged for the purpose of discovering what Mary Washington students like in china: in design, color and shape of plate.

Miss Peggy Prudden said they wanted to determine what college girls' tastes are, since in about 2 years after graduation, approximately 65 percent are married and choosing china. This survey will help Miss Prudden and Mr. J. Russell Prince, who are designers for Royal Doulton, create china in the patterns, colors and sizes that appeal to college girls.

Each student was conducted through the display by either Miss Prudden, Mr. Price or Mr. Hugh Hinckley, treasurer of Doulton and Company, Inc. They represented the New York outlet for the Royal Doulton China Company of England.

Miss Price said their survey tour included Wellesley, University of Pennsylvania, University of Tennessee, University of Indiana, and the University of Michigan.

Students Study Abroad On Rotary Scholarships

Scholarships for advanced study abroad are available to graduate students through a Rotary memorial scholarship fund.

College graduates with outstanding grades, who are willing to make civics talks in the countries where they will study and also to civic groups when they return, will be considered for the Rotary scholarships of $2,500 to $3,400. These scholarships are to be used for advanced study in agriculture, education, political government, political science and law, during 1953-54. Students who apply must be able to speak and write the language of the country in which they intend to study.

Rotary clubs all over the world are divided into several hundred districts. Most of these districts may nominate one student. A board of judges will consider the nominees and award the scholarships.

Interested students should contact the Rotary club nearest their home town. Applications should be made by December 1.

NEWS BRIEFS

It appears certain that legislation for a system of universal military training will be introduced when the new Congress meets early in 1953. Although the issue was defeated last March, proponents of the legislation will try again for passage of UMT.

Marquis Childs, Washington columnist and author, in speaking at the State University of Iowa last week on politics in 1952, expressed his concern about what he called "our prolonged postmortem over the death of Nationalist China," and said that if we don't pay more attention now to enlisting the support of India, "we will be arguing in the campaign of 1956 about why we lost that country to the Kremlin."

Drunken (to splendidly uniformed bystander)—Say, call me a cab, will you?

Splendidly Uniformed Bystander—My good man, I'm a doorman; I'm a naval officer.

Drunk—All right, then call me a boat. I gotta get home.

Dinner guest: "Will you pass the nuts, Professor?"

Professor, absent-mindedly: "Yes, I suppose so, but I really should flunk them."

October 16 Cavalry held its monthly meeting. Promotions were awarded at this time. The new first lieutenant is Bobbie June June Caverlee. Mary Lois O'Mara is this year's second lieutenant and Shirley Simard is master sergeant. The platoon sergeants are Lois Harder and Sally Wyson and the guide sergeants, Joyce Hines and Susie Miller. Six corporalships were also given. The corporals are Betty Lewis, Helen Horton, Beth Otway, Jimmie Lou Moore, Frances Fontaine, and Betty Thompson. There will be further promotions later in the year.

Nugget, a newcomer to the stables, is a well-known open jumper in this section of Virginia. Contrary to the usual, the big dun horse goes as quietly as a hunter. Even though he's only been here two weeks, he has quite a group of admirers among the girls.

Our freshmen riders are really coming along fast. The beginners are going over low jumps and taking trips on the trail. The girls who rode saddle horses before coming here have worked hard to change to the forward seat. We really have a lot of promise and ability among the new riders.

These beautiful fall days have provided some wonderful opportunities for trail rides. Occasionally we've seen deer running through the colorful foliage around us. Some of the overgrown trails we ride on have convinced the freshmen that they were lost, but we've always made it back for dinner.

Wednesday night a group of Cavalry girls went to the police station for the first time this year. The new girls were shown around by the Superintendent of Police while the older girls picked up where they left off last spring. A group will go to the police station every Wednesday, and Friday night to learn the work connected with Civilian Defense.

MWC Band To Play For Homecoming

The Mary Washington College Band will play for the University of Richmond Homecoming game between Richmond and VPI, on November 1.

'Beisbol' Is Red? . . .

The Russians are now claiming that they, and not Abner Doubleday, invented the game of baseball. A Soviet youth magazine told its readers that "beisbol" is not American but just distortion of the Russian village sport called "lapta," which was played centuries before there was an American on the map.

American baseball, said the youth magazine, is a "beastly battle, a bloody fight with mayhem and murder."

It also said that the players are slaves who are bought and sold like sheep. Then, when the players are worn out and usually crippled as a result of injuries suffered on the playing field, they are thrown out on the streets to die of starvation.

Mama: "I'm worried, when Jim brought you home last night it only took you 30 seconds to say goodnight."

Daughter: "So?"

Mama: "So when a man takes 30 seconds to say goodnight to a girl either they had a fight or they're married."

College Is Hostess, Hockey Participant At Richmond Meet

Mary Washington College was hostess for the Allied A. East Tournament held at St. Catherine's School in Richmond, October 25. Participating in this hockey tournament were Randolph-Macon Woman's College, William and Mary, West Hampton and Mary Washington College. From the players on all the competing teams, one team will be chosen to attend the State Tournament in Charlottesville, November 1.

The MWC team was chosen from the players on the Devil-Goat teams and in the hockey classes. They are as follows: Peggy Anderson, Karen Gerken, Darlene Grove, Kitty Hoen, Pat Oberholzer, Barbara Quinn, Eileen O'Shea, Pat Swan, Barbara Timmons, Christian Turner and Jean Wallace. The substitutes are Marion Minor, Lucy Redman and Pat Smith.

Bridge; Volleyball Tournaments Open

The sign-ups for the bridge tournament will start Monday, October 26, 1952. This tournament will be open to all classes. After all entries have registered a meeting will be held at which the rules of the game will be disclosed. The tournament, itself will start after Thanksgiving.

Brackets have been drawn and are on the bulletin board in Monroe Gym. Please post name of winner and scores. Please have rounds played at time, as we do not want any defaults.

Volleyball sign up sheets were posted in all dorms October 21. Anyone who wants to play must sign up and attend two practices. The practices will begin November 3. It is hoped that the tournament will begin November 10.

IN THE SPORT LIGHT

record is deceiving. NYU football actually was worse than that."

In three years time, continues the editorial, NYU opponents have scored 663 points, "twice as many points as our teams have been able to amass; NYU has lost exactly one-half of its contests by more than four touchdowns . . ."

Carefully understanding the problem, the paper points out that "our football program needs re-evaluation."

"We want neither hired nor hapless help playing for NYU. What we would like is some reaffirmed goal at which University football can be directed. NYU must either be equal to its present schedule or prepared to drop its level. It can no longer afford to be the graveyard of both coaches and school spirit."

HERE TODAY . . .

Freshman basketball star, Hollow Tucker, slipped quietly out of his fraternity house one day last week and departed to enroll at the University of Washington.

On returning to Oregon State to pick up his belongings, the basketball coach there asked him if he didn't feel guilty about "running away" after the way OSC had treated him.

"He replied "I have no feeling one way or the other. I don't owe anyone anything." Tucker apparently violated none of the Pacific Coast conference rules, since he had not yet paid his tuition fees at Oregon State.

OLD SAYING . . .

When Don Beran, sports writer for the Drake University Times-Delphic, realized that his football game predictions were anything but dazzling, he turned to William Allen White for consolation: "Doctors bury their mistakes; journalists publish theirs . . ."

Silver threads among the gold once meant the gal was growing old. Today, it seems a silver streak merely means that she's going chic.

MARTIN AND LEWIS—CAMPUS FAVORITES

Chesterfield—favorite cigarette on the college campus—continues this fall is the new Chesterfield Martin and Lewis show on the NBC coast-to-coast network every Tuesday night. Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are the hottest comedy team in the nation and one of the top attractions on the college campus.

The zany pair, in their spectacular rise to fame, made their first big network appearances on Bob Hope's radio show and took the Chesterfield banner themselves for the first time last year on their own NBC radio show.

Chesterfield's new Martin and Lewis Show on Tuesday nights will include top-name guest stars each week and the competent support of the Dick Stabile Orchestra and announcer George Fenneman.

The only time this hilarious comedy team gets serious these days is when they tell their millions of collegiate fans from coast to coast about their favorite Chesterfield cigarettes. Whether it's regular, or the new companion king-size—either way—they mean it when they say they like 'em! Chesterfield's famous radio and TV line-up this year includes TV's top singer Perry Como on CBS-TV thrice weekly; the award winning Dragnet on NBC radio Sunday nights, Dragnet and TV's popular Gangbusters on NBC-TV Thursday nights, and king of the airwaves, Arthur Godfrey, on CBS-TV Wednesday nights and on CBS radio every weekday.

PESRONALITIES

By JACKIE SAYERS

The honor students of the class of 1953, both mathematics majors, are Mary Moskos and Irene Malaros. Mary and Irene are from Norfolk and are graduates of Maury High School there.

Irene has chosen for the topic of her honors paper, "Miniature Mathematical Systems." Mary's topic is "Approximations to Differential Equations."

Both Mary and Irene are members of Chi Beta Phi, national honorary science fraternity; Eta Sigma Phi, national honorary classics fraternity; Phi Sigma Iota, honorary group for romance languages; Alpha Phi Sigma, national scholastic honorary fraternity; and Cap and Gown, MWC senior honorary for scholarship leadership, and service to the college. Mary is historian of Chi Beta Phi and is treasurer of Y.W.C.A. Irene is president of Alpha Phi Sigma and vice-president of Chi Beta Phi.

After graduation, Mary and Irene plan to do government work in mathematics.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

TOWN GIRLS CLUB

The Town Girls Club have chosen Mr. Pinschmidt of the science department as its sponsor for this year.

The club is holding a bake sale outside the "C" Shop on Wednesday, October 29.

FREDERICKSBURG CHAPTER, MW ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The Fredericksburg chapter of the Mary Washington Alumnae Association entertained the Town Girls, Alumnae Daughters, and the local high school senior girls at a picnic at Mrs. Bernard Hall's farm in Spotsylvania County on October 19.

Dr. Mary Ellen Stephenson was

JUNIOR DANCE CLUB

Junior Dance Club made an impressive beginning this year with forty-five members, nine of which are freshman dance majors.

The club meets on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons with Ada Doddill and Kate King as teachers. Anyone who is interested in modern dance may join the group.

The possibility of organizing a similar club for ballet enthusiasts will be considered next semester, if enough interest is shown among the students. Anyone wishing to join such a club should contact Mrs. Claudia Read.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club held its first meeting of the year Thursday, October 16, at Framar. First on the program was a formal initiation for the new members. Pat Bainbridge then welcomed them to the Club and introduced the honorary members and members of the faculty. Dr. L. J. Cabrera addressed the group; he told of the importance of Spanish in our present day and of the many jobs a knowledge of Spanish offers.

Anita D'Argenio was elected Secretary of the Club. Other officers for the year are Pat Bainbridge, president; Frances Giannotti, vice-president; Janet Camp-

"THE PTALE OF THE PTO-MAINE PTAVERN" was hilariously clever as it is a hilarious mouthful. If you didn't see it, hang your head in shame because you really missed one of the best productions of the year. The entire YWCA "Shoot-em-up" troupe "eally did themselves proud." Beware if you happen to see Anne Loyd or Hettie Cohen—er Greasy George or Holeproof Harry—striding around campus in their trusty chaps.

Technically speaking, the script demonstrated a great deal of talent. Did you ever see a benefit with the acts so well integrated into the plot? This Y's Owl isn't just being prejudiced either. It took a special pole of popular opinion just to find out how much everybody did enjoy "The Ptale of Pto-Maine Ptavern."

Many thanks and much well deserved credit goes to Jackie Reese for a grand job. Also many thanks from all who had the opportunity to see the benefit, for the fine cooperation from a top-notch cast.

Freshmen, does your room-mate have some mystic hidden talent we haven't seen yet? If she does, don't let her be shy any longer. The Freshman Talent Show will be November 14th during chapel. More about that next week.

The week-end of November 1st is "Y's" turn to see that you have an extra good time using the Tapestry Room. Bring your date over to enjoy some relaxing platter with chatter for awhile.

Fencing Students Teach While Instructor's Away

The fencing club of Mary Washington College has started a new project for the year '52-53. Since the fencing instructor is on leave of absence this session, the club will teach all who are interested to fence. Classes are taught Tuesday through Friday in the corrective room. Twenty-five new students have tried out for the club this year. The major activity of the fencing club will be to have the University of Virginia fencing team to visit M.W.C. for an exhibition.

The officers are Rophelia Simpson, president, and Helen Wilbur, vice-president.

Notices

Cap and Gown is now taking subscriptions for Student Directories, to be delivered sometime before Christmas. The price will be 50 cents.

The Strawberry Leaf Society held a cake cutting in the College Shop on October 20. Virginia Brooks of Fredericksburg was elected Grand Alpha.

The YMCA of the University of Virginia is sponsoring a dance on October 21 which is open to all Mary Washington students. The dance will last from 8:30 to 12. Round trip transportation on the college bus, $2.50, is the only expense.

NEW VARIETY SHOW ORGANIZED; "POT OF GOLD" WILL GO ON TOUR

The cast and staff of "Pot of Gold," the touring campus variety show sponsored by Alpha Psi Omega, the national honorary dramatic fraternity, has been announced.

Mr. Walther will direct the show; Barbara Huff is assistant director. The rest of the staff includes Deigh Simpson, stage manager; Barbara Hamilton, mistress of ceremonies; Jackie Reese, lights; June Christian, make-up; Burt Anderson, business; Joan Watson, scenery; Anne Lloyd, script.

"Pot of Gold" takes place in the big city, New York. A pathetic little urchin, Barbara Hamilton, sees a theatre magazine lying on a bench while she is walking through Central Park. As she is reading about the stars of the theatre in the magazine, they come alive before her eyes. Dotti Reisig, Eily Gumbert, Mary Ann Fox, Anne Henry, and Betty Christopher sing in their specialized styles. Judy Graham, Anita Jean Cobb, and Barbara Jinkins present their tap routines, and Tamara Hayes and Anne Hungerford also dance. Nell McCoy and Becky Harvill offer their novelty numbers. Hettie Cohen presents Hetty Cohen, and Bobbie June Caverlee presents her pantomimes.

Nancy Zimmerman and Anne Saunders do a piano duet, Anne Lovelace and Claire Williams perform on the saxophones, and Shirley Sinnard, Pam Gluck, and Peggy Akers sing and play the steel and Spanish guitars. Dottie Booth's Charleston routine and Barbara Hoskins' interpretations records complete the show and help to convince the little urchin that there's no place like the theatre.

F. R. Shea Gives

companion photographer from Life. They were accused of inciting to riot and held for questioning for 2 days without food or sleep. Intervention by the United States Ambassador secured their release.

Mr. Shea condemned our unstable foreign policy in Argentina. He spoke of three U. S. Ambassadors, who followed each other in the post in Argentina. Each had a different attitude toward Peron; Mr. Shea says this betrays the small group of American supporters in "neo-fascist" Argentina.

Unfortunately, Peron seems to have influenced the election in three other South American countries. As for Communist activity in Argentina, Mr. Shea says that the Communists are keeping quiet—the Peron regime is doing the Communists' job for them, better than they could do it themselves.

During a question period after convocation, Mr. Shea answered questions of the students and faculty. Most of the interest seemed to center around Peron's late wife, Eva. Mr. Shea said she was very influential in Argentina, perhaps as strong as Peron; however, there never seemed to be public friction between the two. Eva convinced the poor people that she had done them more good than she actually had. In reply to a question about the possibility of Peron re-marrying in the near future, Mr. Shea said that feeling for Eva was so strong among the masses, that there is little possibility that Peron will marry again in the near future.

As the question group was breaking up, someone asked the inevitable question: "Whom are you voting for in the current election?" Mr. Shea replied, "Eisenhower, but I'm afraid he won't win."

Stern Father (sarcastically): "Say, young man, it's past midnight. Do you think you can stay with my daughter all night?"

Young man: "Gosh, I reckon so, sir, if you insist. But I'll have to telephone mother first."

The first subway was opened in London.

FDC Wants Name Band For Christmas Formal

Tentative plans have been made for the annual Christmas Dance and the Formal Dance Committee has hopes of engaging a name band to play for the affair on December 13 in the Hall Mirrors. If the band which the committee is considering is not available, Stan Brown's dance band from Washington may be engaged.

The weekend's activities will also include a Tea Dance and possibly a concert.

Nan Richardson, a senior, is the recently-elected chairman of the Formal Dance Committee which includes representatives from each class. They are as follows: Carolyn Barnes, Ann Colner, Pat McDonald, Sis Irvin, Eleanor Rae Jones and Bee Melillo.

In addition to the one at Christmas, there will be two more formal dances during the school year.

It is 4,682 air miles from New York to Moscow.

BOTH regular and king-size Chesterfields are premium quality cigarettes and come in the smart white pack.

BOTH contain only those proven ingredients that make Chesterfields the best possible smoke; the world's best tobaccos, pure, more costly moistening agents (to keep them tasty and fresh), the best cigarette paper that money can buy—nothing else.

BOTH are much milder with an extraordinarily good taste and, from the report of a well-known research organization — no unpleasant after-taste.

BOTH are exactly the same in all respects. There is absolutely no difference except that king-size Chesterfield is larger—contains considerably more of the same tobaccos—enough more to give you a 21% longer smoke, yet costs very little more.
